Buchstabenweg

The way starts lift parking Jungholz. At various points in the place the letters of the place name are placed. All points can be hiked via a circular route or by bike. In the production of the individual letters a variety of materials were used, depending on the style of the artist. On each art object you will also find a short description of the interpretation. Depending on the speed and duration of the individual letters, approx. 1 1/2 hours must be scheduled.

Rundweg Köpfle

This is a tour path with beautiful views of the surrounding mountains of Oberjoch and up to Jungholz' local mountain, the Sorgschrofen. The starting point is the centre of Jungholz. Go towards the church and turn off left towards Wertach to the Jungholz open air swimming pool car park. Turn left over the main road onto a path which leads past grassland and forest by the so-called Köpfle. Then carry on to the road which leads from the Pfeiffermühle to Jungholz. Carry on back along this road to the place where Jungholz begins at the woodcarver Rappel and go straight on to the car park. Alternatively, turn left and then immediately right on the way to the village road and town centre.

Total walking time approx. 30 to 45 min..

Waldrundweg zum Moorweiher

From the town centre go down the road to Giessenschwand to the Lochbihler carpentry workshop. Go along the small stream up to the Moorweiher (previously the unheated Jungholz open air swimming pool). Total walking time approx. 30 min..

Unterjoch

From the centre of Jungholz go along the street towards Pfeiffermühle and to the beginning of the town (signpost), past the skilift garage. Total walking time approx. 1 hour.

Rundweg Sorgalpe

The starting point for this hiking tour with a beautiful view over the mountain surrounding of Jungholz to the north is the town centre. After around twenty minutes on foot turn right (signposted small Sorgalpe tour path) and then via the second and first Sorgalpe back to Jungholz.

Edelsberg (1.629 m)

Situated right up in the north, meaning that the Edelsberg is a special place from which to get good views of the flat Alpine foothills. The amazing view over the Tannheimer and Allgäuer mountains is limited due to high spruce trees. From Langenschwand (car park on the right in front of the last houses), along the tarred main road (closed to general traffic from Langenschwand), over grassland and through the forest to a far-off col (five minutes left above the Stubental-Alpe. Right onto the gravel way where path number 9 branches off. Over grassland to the forest and then follow the markings through the forest. Then through clearings, some marshy grassy areas to the ridge and then partly through timber forest to the highest ridge. Then finally over Flysch-stones to the open summit with a wooden cross at the top. Total walking time approx. 1 1/2 hours.

Reuter Wanne (1.541 m)

From the centre of Jungholz to Giessenschwand and then after the last houses on the Höhenweg with a further upwards turn past a wooden house and a barn up to a fork in the road. Then left over the stream and straight across the Heuberg to the valley furrow at Holderbach, then back on the road until the meadowlands of the Obere-Reutter-Wanne-Alpe rise up on the right via a steep old towpath through a clear forest. At this point, turn left through the basin on the south-west side and then up this side to the cross at the top. Descent back to the Obere-Reuter-Wanne-Alpe. On a woodland path in the north around the Pfeifferberg, then steeply on a path which starts off quite steep at first down to the Stupental-Alpe. Then on the asphalted municipal road down to Langenschwand and back to the centre of Jungholz and to the lift car park. Total walking time approx. 3 1/2 hours.

Rundwanderweg Sorgschrofen

From Jungholz it is possible to go right round the Sorgschrofen and this is one of the most beautiful hiking tours. The best starting point is the large car park in the centre of Jungholz. Going along the Schnitzerweg the route leads to Langenschwand. From there the short descent leads to the Scheidbachalpe (not managed) in the Vilstal. Then the route takes visitors into the valley, past the Kabelhofalpe with a short, steep ascent to Rehbach. From Rehbach turn right, and there is a short ascent over a grassy col to the houses of Steineberg and then down to Unterjoch. From Unterjoch, the tour leads round the Sorgschrofen past the Sorgalpen and back to Jungholz. There are various rest stops on the way.

Total walking time approx. 4 to 5 hours.

An alp is not a petting zoo!

For cross grazing, please observe the following recommendations:

- Do not leave trail on pastures.
- Keep dogs under control and keep them on a leash.
- Go quietly and unobtrusively in distance past the animals.
- Do not scare the animals or look them directly in the eyes.
- Leave the animals in peace and do not touch them.
- Do not stroke the calves
- Watch the threatening gestures of the animals: lowering the head, buzz, roar, snort.
- When approaching the animals: stay calm, do not turn back and leave the pasture slowly.
- Immediately remove the dog's leash if an attack by an animal is foreseeable.
- In case of emergency, put a targeted punch on the nose of the cattle.

Alps and huts

A hearty breakfast, a nice drink, a beautiful view, fresh air, the pleasant company of other hikers, stories, chat, shared experiences, tips and advice...and maybe the manager will get his accordion out! When hiking through the mountains, huts are the place to have a rest, build your strength up and set off for new places. The next pages present the individual huts with the most important information about them.

Particularly when you are on the road in large groups and are planning an overnight stop, we strongly recommend you to contact the hut manager in advance and to arrange your arrival date.
